Buddhists, Ky

Deserted
Consulate

By ROBERT D. OHMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Buddhist leaders resumed their peace talks with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military junta today despite a mysterious grenade attack on one of the leading monks involved.

While the resumption of the negotiations seemed a hopeful sign in South Viet Nam's political crisis, rampaging student mobs sacked and burned the deserted U.S. consulate and at least three other buildings in the rebellious Buddhist stronghold of Hue.

In the war, U.S. pilots dodged half a dozen Soviet missiles in a near-record day of attack on North Viet Nam but conventional groundfire knocked down three American jets. The assault on the Communist north included the heaviest single raid of the war, an 18-missile strike against the Yen Bay storage complex along the Red River 80 miles northwest of Hanoi.

An Air Force spokesman said more planes were sent against Yen Bay than any other individual target since the raids on the north began Feb. 7, 1965. He reported 25 anti-aircraft gun pits and 72 buildings destroyed and 44 buildings badly damaged.

The resumption of the negotiations in Saigon's Gia Long Palace between the junta and monks of the powerful Buddhist Institute followed a public declaration.

Lost Boy Alive

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Footprints in the snow on Mt. Charleston have revived hopes that Larry Jeffrey, 6, might be alive despite four nights of near-freezing weather.

The youngster, hard of hearing and wearing only blue jeans and a short-sleeved shirt, has been missing since Saturday when he wandered away during a family picnic in Lee's Canyon on the side of the 12,000-foot mountain.

The footprints were discovered late Tuesday. They could not be positively identified as Larry's.

Larry's father, Lee Jeffrey, 41, of Henderson, Nev., left a short time later to join the ongoing tracking party. About 300 persons are searching for the youngster.

Dentist Says 'Gums

Should Be Like Callus'

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Your gums should be as tough as a callus on your hand," said the dentist. "But most people don't know that yet."

Partly for that reason, Americans are victimized by a galloping, costly epidemic of gum disease, made all the more worrisome because it can be stopped, and it can be prevented.

Second only perhaps to the common cold in the millions of victims claimed, this saboteur is periodontal disease, meaning an affliction of the gums and bone and other tissues around the teeth.

In its major form, periodontal disease begins as gingivitis—inflammation of the gums—but then can progress to destructive periodontitis, sometimes called pyorrhea.

Hundreds of leftist students clash with riot police in front of a U.S. Navy base here tonight. It was the fourth day of demonstrations against a visit by the U.S. nuclear submarine Snook.

About 10,000 left-wingers paraded past the base shouting "Go home Yankee" and "Get out of Viet Nam."

Many students and police were injured.

It was the wildest demonstration since the Snook arrived Sunday for a recreation visit for its 97-man crew. The submarine sails Friday.

DAY-BY-DAY
WITH GEMINI 9

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Here are the planned day-by-day highlights of the Gemini 9 flight of astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan:

Friday: Chase and link up with a target satellite, maneuvering in much the way later astronauts will do in returning from the moon.

Saturday: Cernan takes 2½-hour space walk, maneuvering part of the time on a 150-foot tether with a rocket-powered backpack. Astronauts practice a rendezvous without the use of radar and dock and undock several times.

Sunday: Practice rendezvous and docking technique that might have to be conducted to rescue two astronauts who have started down to moon and for some reason decide not to land.

Monday: Return to earth after orbital flight of 70 hours 40 minutes, landing in Atlantic 420 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

Surveyor
Streaks
Moonward

By RALPH DIGHTON

Associated Press Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Surveyor 1, streaking toward a landing on the moon Thursday morning, carries not only a camera but this nation's hopes of making the first touchdown gentle enough for men to survive.

Surveyor is due to settle on a broad equatorial plain at 2:17 a.m. EDT and begin radioing pictures, which will help scientists pick the safest areas for Apollo astronaut landings later in this decade.

If everything works, Surveyor will fire retro-rockets to break its approach speed from 6,100 miles an hour to 3½ miles an hour, then drop gently the final 14 feet with less impact than a parachutist feels on earth.

The Soviet Union's ball-shaped Luna 9, which radioed the first pictures from the lunar surface last Feb. 3, apparently was ejected from a carrier vehicle at a height of several hundred feet.

"Information and pictures recently released in Moscow indicate the fall probably would have been fatal to an unprotected human," said Dr. Thomas Vrebalovich, of Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which is guiding Surveyor on its quarter-million-mile flight.

Dr. Vrebalovich, a Surveyor project scientist, said in an interview that the Luna 9 technique was similar to one abandoned.

Porcero Pleads

Guilty To Theft,

Bigamy Changes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)

Frank (Porky) Porcero, 62, who recently resigned under fire as chief investigator for Secretary of State Paul Powell, has pleaded guilty to bigamy and theft charges.

Porcero admitted Tuesday in Circuit Court that he had overcharged the state $3,745.71 in travel expenses from Nov. 20, 1964, through Feb. 28, 1966. He was paid $12,000 during the period.

Porcero also admitted he married Mary Elizabeth Heffernan of Springfield while still married to Mrs. Anna Cataldo Porcero of Oak Park.

Miss Heffernan, a secretary to Gov. Otto Kerner, was granted an annulment and Mrs. Porcero was granted a divorce on charges of cruelty.

Porcero entered the guilty pleas before Judge William Chamberlain, who, as acting secretary of state in 1964, fired Porcero as a state investigator after learning he had a criminal record.

Porcero was rehired when Powell took office.

Porcero requested he be placed on probation. Judge Chamberlain continued his $3,000 bond, but set no date for sentencing.

Porcero resigned as Powell's chief investigator earlier this year after Porcero and other agents raided an off-campus tavern at the University of Illinois to determine whether students were using bogus driver's licenses as proof of age to buy liquor.

Humphrey Raps
Negroes Who Ignore Fellows

By JOSEPH E. MOHABAT

WASHINGTON (AP)

— Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey launched the already controversial White House Conference on Civil Rights today by sharply criticizing upper-class Negroes who ignore the plight of their less fortunate fellow Negroes.

Keynoting the conference "to fulfill these rights," Humphrey said in a prepared address there are "Negro Americans who appear more concerned about their own positions than about the plight of those less fortunate, less articulate members of their race."

"Their interest is not in securing the fruits of equality for their brothers, but in preserving their own personal good fortune and accomplishments," the vice president said.

The extraordinary two-day conference of some 2,400 influential citizens opened under a cloud of charges that the administration has rigged its outcome.

The conferees were to discuss a 100-page document prepared by the conference planning council that proposes a multibillion-dollar program of action to bring the Negro into full equality in housing, jobs, education and the administration of justice.

The Johnson administration welcomed the Soviet call for action and said the subject is so important that work on it should begin "without delay."

In the first comment here on the Fedorenko disclosure, White House deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming said: "It appears to support the stand taken by the President in the May 7 statement."

A State Department spokesman said "we are encouraged by the apparently affirmative interest shown by the Soviet government in President Johnson's proposal. We believe that work on a celestial bodies treaty should begin without delay, and it is for that reason that we

Dominicans Vote

Today For First

Time In 4 Years

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)

Dominicans voted today for the first time in nearly four years in general elections expected to be relatively peaceful. The aftermath was doubtful.

Slightly more than a million men and women were eligible to cast ballots during the 12 hours the polls were to be open. Unless there is a landslide for one of the presidential candidates, definite results are not expected until late Thursday.

A close race is anticipated between the major presidential contenders, Juan Bosch, leader of the Dominican Revolutionary party, and Joaquin Balaguer, of the Reformist party.

A third candidate, Rafael F. Bonnelly, is considered out of the running. He is backed by a coalition of tiny conservative parties called the Movement of National Integration.

All three are former presidents, but Bosch is the only one who got the office by a democratic election. He was ousted by the military in September 1963 after seven months in office.

Also at stake in the election are all seats in the two-house national Congress and all elective municipal offices.

The voting gives the people a chance to pass judgment on the April 1965 revolution, launched to bring Bosch back from exile and restore him to the presidency. His supporters claim American intervention thwarted a massive popular uprising that would have restored Bosch.

Opponents of Bosch and of the revolution contend that the revolt was only a local power grab that never extended beyond Santo Domingo.

Balaguer and his Reformist party were not involved in the revolt. He and most of the party leadership were in exile, but most of the revolt's opponents have now rallied behind them.

Moon Pact
Prospects
Seem Good

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials said today the prospects for negotiating a treaty with the Soviet Union to ban use of the moon and other heavenly bodies for military purposes appear to be good—in spite of tension between Moscow and Washington over the Viet Nam war.

The two countries are in agreement on the need for such a treaty, which also would provide for international cooperation in exploring the moon and other celestial bodies.

President Johnson had proposed May 7 that the United Nations should start early discussions of a moon treaty. The Soviet Union made what seemed to be a parallel proposal to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant Monday.

It was disclosed in New York Tuesday by Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko.

The Johnson administration welcomed the Soviet call for action and said the subject is so important that work on it should begin "without delay."

In the first comment here on the Fedorenko disclosure, White House deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming said: "It appears to support the stand taken by the President in the May 7 statement."

Of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen said today no compromise will lessen his opposition to the housing provision of President Johnson's civil rights bill.

Thus Dirksen cast a dark shadow over the fate of the administration's measure as the White House Conference on Civil Rights gets under way. The Senate Republican leader was a key figure in the passage of previous civil rights legislation.

In a separate interview, Sen. Mansfield frankly conceded that if Dirksen sticks by his contention that a provision banning racial discrimination in the sale or renting of housing is unconstitutional, there may be no civil rights bill in this session.

"We've got to have the votes of those he represents on the Republican side to get Senate action on the measure," Mansfield said.

The Montana Democrat, along with other Democratic congressional leaders, attended a briefing with the President Tuesday and later predicted Congress should be able to pass most, if not all, of the administration's legislative program by Labor Day.

Asked if he was satisfied with the congressional pace thus far, Mansfield said, "Oh, yes." There was, however, no mention of the administration's civil rights bill.

Indonesia And Malaysia Agree
To End Dispute

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)

Indonesia and Malaysia formally agreed today to end a dispute opened in 1963 by President Sukarno in his "crush Malaysia" campaign. They decided to work toward the establishment of diplomatic relations.

Sukarno launched his campaign against the Malaysian Federation when it was formed in September 1963 of the former British colonies of Malaya, Singapore and the Borneo states of Sarawak and North Borneo (now Sabah). Singapore has since dropped out.

The end came after three days of meetings between Deputy Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Razak of Malaysia and Foreign Minister Adam Malik of Indonesia. Malik had indicated before the meetings that the campaign had put Indonesia under economic and financial strain.

Sukarno objected to the federation, charging that it was really a British plot to maintain a colonial hold in this part of the world and that Malaysia was formed to strangle Indonesia.

Draft Test Bids

WASHINGTON (AP)

Midnight tonight is the deadline for mailing applications to take the fourth and last Selective Service college qualification test. The test will be given June 24.

A spokesman at the national draft headquarters said today no figures had been received here on the number of applications being received by Science Research Associates in Chicago.

The Chicago firm is handling the test series on a contract basis.

Two test sessions have been held and a third is scheduled June 3.

Preparations are being made to hold the fourth session in many of 1,200 test centers throughout the nation as necessary, the spokesman said.

Scores made by college students, high school seniors graduating this year, and other registrants who intend to seek an occupational deferment next fall on grounds they are students may be considered by draft boards in classifying the registrants.

MANNED SPACE CENTER,

Houston, Tex. (AP)

A lean, six-footer with rugged features, Eugene A. Cernan will reach "the ultimate" in his career Friday when he slips from Gemini 9 for man's boldest walk in space.

"It'll represent the ultimate goal for someone like me," the young Navy lieutenant commander said. "Someone with a background in flying and engineering."

And, the man on his left in Gemini 9 Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, shares Cernan's feelings of space travel, deeming their flight as "a test pilot's dream."

Guidance Problem
Cause Of Delay

SYCAMORE, Ill. (AP)

Charles R. Dewey, 25, of Rockford, has been declared mentally competent to stand trial on a charge of murdering an 11-year-old Rockford girl.

Judge Charles Seidel said Tuesday he hopes to begin the trial by Aug. 15.

The state contends Dewey abducted Susan Brady, beat her to death with a sledgehammer, then burned her body.

Police say Dewey told them he hit a girl with his car on a Rockford street Dec. 20 and burned her body in an incinerator when he found she was dead.

Dewey's attorney, Roy Lasswell, did not contest the sanity finding by a court-appointed psychiatrist, saying he had no reason to believe his client incompetent.

The tests were ordered in Freeport before the trial was moved from Stephenson County to De Kalb County on a change of venue.

Train Derails

PEOTONE, Ill. (AP)

A Chicago-bound Illinois Central passenger train left the rails two miles north of Peotone Tuesday night injuring 16 of 267 school children aboard.

The children, pupils in three Chicago-area schools, were homeward bound after a day's tour of historic sites in Springfield, the Illinois capital.

Crew members of the train, the Green Diamond, said the derailment apparently was caused when someone pulled an emergency cord, activating the brakes on the nine-car train.

Eight cars left the tracks and slammed against an embankment.

Exploding propane gas tanks, part of the train's air conditioning system, caused a small fire in one car. It was quickly extinguished.

Four children were admitted to St. James Hospital in Chicago Heights for observation. The others were treated and released. None were injured seriously, hospital officials said.

Some 250 children and others of the 295 passengers aboard the train were taken by school bus to the Will County fair grounds for shelter. They were later returned to their homes.

The children included 106 from the St. Sylvester Catholic elementary School in Chicago, 120 from Central Junior High School in Tinley Park, and 41 from St. John's Lutheran School in Lansing.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla.

(AP)—The hard-luck Gemini 9 flight was postponed two days today because of last-minute problems that prevented the Titan 2 rocket from being launched.

The space walk and rendezvous mission was rescheduled for 9:39 a.m. EDT Friday.

The flight was called off at 12:40 p.m. EDT as the astronauts, Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan, waited out the countdown while sealed in their cramped Gemini 9 spacecraft atop a nine-story tall Titan 2 rocket.

The target satellite which the astronauts were to chase across the sky had been fired into space at 11 a.m. from another launching pad 6,000 feet away.

"I just can't believe it," said Cernan, a 32-year-old space rookie disappointed for the second straight time in his goal to take the longest space walk in history.

There was also a hint of trouble with the target satellite, even though it entered a near-perfect circular orbit. Ground stations were unable to confirm that a shroud covering the docking collar had fallen away as planned.

If the shroud did not come off, the astronauts will not be able to link up with the target, but will be able to carry out rendezvous missions.

Until they get within eyesight of the target, they will not know whether the shroud is off.

The guidance problem in the Gemini 9 spacecraft was not discovered until less than two minutes before it was to blast off on a three-day mission.

The countdown on the Titan 2 proceeded smoothly down to 1 minute, 40 seconds before lift-off. Then a hold was called and the count was recycled to three.

'Soul In Spirit That Is America'

Unknown Soldier's Story Retold

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Unknown Soldier of World War I was buried in Washington, Nov. 11, 1921. An account of that event, written by Kirke L. Simpson of The Associated Press, won the Pulitzer Prize and became one of the classics of journalism.

It is reproduced, in major portion, at the suggestion of a newspaper editor who wrote that the story was written years before he was born and he thought a new generation should be exposed to it this Memorial Day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11, 1921 — By The Associated Press. Under the wide and starry skies of his own homeland America's unknown dead from France sleeps tonight, a soldier home from the wars.

Alone, he lies in the narrow cell of stone that guards his body; but his soul has entered into the spirit that is America. Wherever liberty is held close in men's hearts, the honor and the glory and the pledge of high endeavor poured out over this nameless one of fame, will be told and sung by Americans for all time.

Scrolled across the marble arch of the memorial raised to American soldier and sailor dead, everywhere, which stands like a monument behind his tomb, runs this legend: "We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

The words were spoken by the martyred Lincoln over the dead at Gettysburg. And today with voice strong with determination and ringing with deep emotion, another president echoed that high resolve over the coffin of the soldier who died for the flag in France.

Great men in the world's affairs heard that high purpose reiterated by the man who stands at the head of the American people. Tomorrow they will gather in the city that stands almost in the shadow of the new American shrine of liberty dedicated today. They will talk of peace; and of the curbing of the havoc of war.

They will speak of the war in France, that robbed this soldier of life and name and brought death to comrades of all nations by the hundreds of thousands. And in their ears when they meet must ring President Harding's declaration today beside that flag-wrapped, honor-laden bier:

"There must be, there shall be, the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare."

All day long the nation poured out its heart in pride and glory for the nameless American. Before the first crash of the minute-guns roared its knell for the dead from the shadow of the Washington Monument, the people who claim him as their own were trooping out to do him honor. They lined the long road from the Capitol to the hillside where he sleeps tonight; they flowed like a tide over the slopes about his burial place. They choked the bridges that lead across the river to the fields of the brave, in which he is the last comer.

Soldiers, sailors and Marines — all played their part in the thrilling spectacle as the cortege rolled along. And just behind the casket, with its faded French flowers on the draped flag, walked the president, the chosen leader of a hundred million, in whose name he was chief mourner at his bier. Beside him strode the man under whom the fallen hero had lived and died in France, Gen. Pershing, wearing only the single Medal of Victory that every American soldier might wear.

Behind came the carriage in which came Woodrow Wilson, also stricken down by infirmities as he served in the highest place of the nation, just as the humble private riding in such state ahead had gone down before a shell or bullet. For that dead man's sake, the former

Guidelines From GSA

In the heat of the controversy over automotive safety, the role played by the General Services Administration in more or less touching it off is sometimes forgotten. That role was of vital importance. By upgrading its specifications for passenger cars purchased by the government, the GSA prodded the industry into doing what it should have done long before—making certain basic safety devices standard equipment on all models.

This was only the beginning. It is good news that the government's purchasing agency plans to go on tightening its auto safety standards. To this end the GSA administrator, Lawson B. Knott Jr., has announced creation of an advisory panel of automotive safety experts to recommend further improvements.

The GSA's first upgrading applied to 1966 models. It has now prescribed even better safety equipment for 1967 model cars bought by the government, and has under review other proposed changes to be made on 1968 models. The panel of experts is expected to consider these proposals.

It will go beyond that, however. Knott has said its job will be to find ways of making the government's auto and truck fleet "a model for the country." This will not conflict with legislation now pending in Congress, but will be a valuable guideline for further improvement. If the industry were to cooperate wholeheartedly with the GSA in this undertaking, the traffic safety problem could be greatly eased.

An Underlying Problem

The new confession of faith of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. is of interest far more than the three and a third million members of that denomination. Doctrinal niceties aside, the tone and thrust of this document have something to say to all Christians, and indeed to all men of good will.

The new creed, the first adopted by the Presbyterians since the Westminster confession of 1649, revolves about a concern that all of us must feel in a time when the relevance of God to man's world is being so intensively questioned. George W. Cornell, the veteran religious news reporter of the Associated Press, summed it up as follows: "Focused on the theme of Christ's work of reconciling men to God and with one another, the confession summons believers to the duty of carrying on that same purpose—by action in the modern environment—declaring: 'To be reconciled to God is to be sent into the world as His reconciling community.'"

This gets at a problem which underlies much of what is disquieting about modern society. The Presbyterians' new creed deserves the attention of all, whatever their faith, who are aware of this problem and seek deeper understanding of it.

Dear Ann:

Borrowing Bookkeeper Invites Disaster

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am past 30, so please don't call me Toots or Lamb-Chop or any of your other cute names.

For the past three years I have been employed as a bookkeeper by a very good firm. I am in charge of the cash box, out of which I pay C.O.D.'s and other incidentals. The box contains $350 at all times—or vouchers which account for the missing money. I am responsible for that amount.

Almost every Friday I take $35 or $50 from the cash box to play bingo or bet on a ball game or a golf match or some other sporting event. I'm not only an educated bettor, but a lucky one. I usually win. When I lose I repay the cash box from my savings account.

Yesterday the boss called me in and told me he had heard I borrowed money from the cash box to place bets. At that very moment the cash box balanced perfectly because just that morning I had repaid the $50 I had borrowed on Friday.

I'm furious that he would criticize me since I am responsible for the cash box and if I want to borrow from it, it's my business, isn't it? Yes or no? —LOUISVILLE

Dear L.: You have no right to borrow money from that box for a weekend, a day or even a minute. Why in the world don't you have a checking account, woman?

Almost every embezzler started out by "borrowing" from the company, just as you have been doing. Anyone who uses company money for his own purposes is inviting disaster—and disaster invariably accepts the invitation.

Dear Ann Landers: Last Friday night we had a couple here for dinner. I had never met either the man or his wife before. He was transferred here and works for the same firm that employs my husband.

They arrived about 7:00 P.M. and we had cocktails. They were congenial and I liked them both. After dinner my husband took out his guitar. I played the piano and we all sang. Around 11:00 my husband suggested that we show the movies of our trip to Hawaii. They were thrilled at the idea.

When the movies were finished it was midnight. My husband suggested that they sleep at our house rather than drive to the suburbs—about 45 minutes away. When they accepted I almost fainted.

I had to change the sheets and iron a pair of pajamas for the man to sleep in—all this after midnight. I told my husband after they left the next noon that he had a nerve asking guests to stay overnight without first checking with me. He says I have no spirit of adventure and that the unexpected things in life are the most fun.

Am I a dead-head as he insists? —VERONICA
Dear V.: I can think of things that are a lot more fun than changing sheets at midnight and ironing pajamas for people you met just that evening.

Your husband should not have asked them to stay and they should not have accepted. You say nothing of a hurricane, earthquake, blizzard, illness or too much liquor. You described them as "easy to know." If you ask me they are "TOO" easy to know. Cool it.

Urges Minstrels to Offset Viet Reds' Hymns of Hate

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent Newspaper Enterprise Assn. WASHINGTON (NEA)—Pham Duy, who once sang for Ho Chi Minh's armies, says the Viet Cong have singing teams in every Viet Nam district to work on the emotions of the people. "Songs work," says Pham Duy. "They worked against the French." (In 1949 and '50, Pham Duy moved into hamlets ahead of Ho's troops to whip up the farmers against the French colonialists.)

"They work up people now. The Viet Cong sing of class hatred, of struggle against landlords and other men. They sing of what Ho and the Communist party will do for the people. 'But after 20 years the people have become tired. They're weary of hate and class struggle, of Ho's cadres and party promises.'"

"By now in the Viet Cong hamlets there should be much disillusionment. Why that is so will become clear when I tell you why I left Ho's forces 16 years ago.

"The Communists told me that men are equal. But the party member turned out to be above everybody. He got special privileges, more food and better dress.

"When we were working as artists, they put men above us of no ability just because they were party members.

"The Communists continually spied on me and everyone. We were always under surveillance. We were forced to constant self-criticism.

"We were always being pushed to do more. The pressure never stopped. But a man does not want to be a hero all the time."

So the door is open, says Pham Duy. "We must send singing teams to every hamlet. Our songs must be different. Where the Viet Cong preach hate, our singers must sing of love.

"Our songs should say the enemy is not the landlord or other men or even foreigners; the enemy is jealousy, cupidity, ignorance, 'isms,' greed, lack of freedom, schisms, class hatred. 'We must sing of man's need to change himself, of his right to rule himself and to decide what his own better life will be. 'These songs should say: 'Like this I'm born to be, to be, 'If you love me, let me live free.'"

Such songs, said Pham Duy, would fall on fertile ground.

"The villagers are sick of propaganda. They don't believe any kind—the Viet Cong propaganda or ours.

"If we want to win the villagers we must help them build a new concept of a man. We must create a dream they can believe.

"We must build hope, or they will follow whomever is on the spot because they're weary and without leaders."

Pham Duy says "send our singers to Viet Cong hamlets and fewer bombers. Bombs may be necessary. But you can't kill the Communist party with bombs.

"You can kill the party by giving the people a new ideal."

'Voice Of America' At Work In Viet Nam

By KELLY SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two continents west of here, where rice paddies run into the South China Sea, a Vietnamese farmer, lucky enough to have a transistor radio, tunes in and hears: "Tien Ngai Hoaky."

Late at night on the outskirts of Hanoi, Communist party leaders, as part of their job, gather around a short-wave apparatus and hear "Tien Ngai Hoaky."

The voice comes from a modern broadcast studio in downtown Washington. It may be that of a dark-eyed young woman born in North Viet Nam, a father from Saigon, or a sister whose brothers serve in the Vietnamese army.

Tien Ngai Hoaky — pronounced "ting-noy-whakey" — means the Voice of America. Twenty-four hours a day 18 Vietnamese and five Americans work to broadcast news of the free world to listeners behind Communist lines in Southeast Asia.

Most of the 18 Vietnamese plan to go back home when conflict subsides. In their Washington office, they speak Vietnamese. They worry together, discuss developments together, eat together and tackle their job as seriously as if they were under fire.

News, music, features and analyses are beamed 12,300 miles across the Pacific for 6 1/2 hours each day, to a relay station in the Philippines and along the Chinese coast into North Viet Nam.

"They listen," says translator-announcer Nguyen T. Tong, formerly of Saigon, "The first real paper, made from wood, was made by the Chinese.

"We're sure. We know. 'Although we stay in America — thousands of miles away — we contribute to the fight,' he said. 'We're very close to our people.'"

Tong says, and others agree, that the main listening audience is in the cities, where people have better radio facilities. The Communist party has agents assigned to listen regularly.

"It's difficult to judge listenership," says Dolf M. Droge, chief of the Vietnamese service. "But we get attacked by the regime in Hanoi and there are constant reminders to the people of North Viet Nam not to listen to foreign broadcasts."

Droge, a 6-foot-7 Foreign Service officer from Milan, Ind., has spent many months in the Far East and speaks Vietnamese. He moved to his present post in 1962 when it was a one-man operation.

"Radio is only one means of reaching the people," Droge says. "There are others, of course. The most effective form of communication is word of mouth. We count on this: what one person hears, he will repeat."

"Our signal is good to North Viet Nam, and it's obvious from what the (Communist) party has said that they worry about people talking."

Those who talk from Washington to the Viet Cong guerrilla, the Communist party boss, the American sympathizer, the South Vietnamese, put their hearts into it.

The first real paper, made from wood, was made by the Chinese.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, a great believer in being backed up by a broad consensus when he tries to put an idea across, laid the foundation Wednesday for a lot of future action on civil rights.

A two-day White House conference on Civil Rights, with about 2,400 people taking part at his suggestion, opened and, when it is over, will send him a bundle of recommendations.

In a speech a year ago Johnson said that trying to obtain justice for the Negro "will be a chief goal of my administration" for the years to come.

He said he would call a White House conference in the fall of 1965 — as a starter — to help the American Negro "fulfill the rights which after the long time of injustice he is finally about to secure."

He called the conference in the fall. Eight panels of civil rights workers, experts in various fields, and government officials were asked by Johnson to come up with ideas for a big White House conference this spring.

A planning council was created. Today that second conference begins. The delegates include representatives of business, labor, all levels of government, churches, foundations, educational institutions, civil rights workers, and what the conference calls the "grass roots" of society.

The 2,400 delegates were to be divided into groups of 200 each to discuss a 100-page report which the council sent last week to all those taking part in the conference.

It contained dozens of recommendations for immediate and long-range action to bring the Negro into equal status in housing, education, economic and job security, and the administration of justice.

This conference will not be asked to vote on the proposals but discussions and suggestions will be recorded and reflected in a report to be submitted to Johnson within a few weeks.

The chairman of the planning council — Ben W. Heineman Jr., a railroad executive — sees the conference as a jumping-off point for a full-scale involvement by society at every level, by private citizens as well as government officials.

He denied the goals are "pie in the sky" although acknowledging that all the measures recommended might cost billions of dollars.

One idea emphasized by the council and already proposed to Congress by Johnson is running into tough opposition there. This was the call for an unrestricted market in housing.

In the years ahead as Johnson tries to translate into action the ideas from the council and the conference he can claim, especially to a Congress where he is bound to encounter some opposition. (Continued On Market Page)

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Sun's Rays Should Be Taken in Moderation

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D. Photosensitivity is just a word to some people. To others it is a nightmare because even slight exposure to the sun's rays will give them an itching skin eruption or a severe sunburn.

All such persons are made worse by taking such modern drugs as sulfas, including those used to treat diabetes; certain antibiotics — griseofulvin, given for ringworm, and the tetracyclines; maldixic acid, a urinary antiseptic; and sedatives of the phenothiazine group.

The same effect, but to a lesser degree, may be caused by barbiturates, salicylates, estrogens, gold salts, quinine and proclaine. Even such products as eau de cologne and perfumes may cause an exaggerated sunburn if they contain bergamot or citron oils.

Persons who have pellagra, (a vitamin deficiency disease), lupus erythematosus, porphyria, eczema or contact dermatitis must be careful not only to avoid the sun's rays but also the drugs mentioned.

The best sunscreen preparations to apply locally are those that contain red veterinary petrolatum (RVP) or para-aminobenzoic acid (PARA). The antihistamines used for allergic types of hypersensitivity are of no value and salves that contain antihistamines should be avoided by light-sensitive persons because they frequently aggravate the trouble.

Large doses of vitamin B-6 taken 30 minutes before exposure have prevented sunburn in some light-sensitive persons.

On the bright side it has been found that some diseases are benefited by exposure to sunlight. These include psoriasis, some forms of allergic dermatitis or hives, acne, pityriasis and skin tuberculosis. For most of us, however, the watchword where sunlight is concerned should be MODERATION.

Q—I had poliomyelitis about 13 years ago. Can I safely give blood?

A—To be able to donate blood a person should be between 21 and 60 and in good health. His pulse, blood pressure and hemoglobin level should be normal. He should not have given blood within the preceding 2 months and not more than 4 times in the preceding year. He should have no severe allergies and should not have had malaria, tuberculosis, hepatitis or syphilis. There are no other important restrictions.

Heating contractors tell us that one of the greatest causes of furnace replacement is rust. Even in a dry basement, the wet-and-dry summer periods can cause condensation and moisture in your furnace, leading to rust and corrosion. By leaving your pilot on, and the thermostat turned way down, you keep the air dry and eliminate rusting problems. The cost of operating the gas pilot is low—it is the cheapest possible rust insurance.

OTHER ADVANTAGES—When the furnace pilot is on—you have instant automatic heat whenever you want it. Unexpected cold weather, damp nights or sickness often bring a need for heat. If the gas pilot light is on—heat is immediately available at the turn of your thermostat. Turn the heat on—or off—at your convenience. And it's ready to go at the first sign of cold weather next fall.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
BERLIN (AP) — When an actor named Segal makes a movie about neo-Nazism in Berlin, how does he feel?
"Very strange indeed," says George Segal.
The fast-rising young actor is the sole American in the international cast of "The Quiller Memorandum." The story depicts the rise of Nazi feeling in today's Germany. The film subject is reported to have stirred some concern among the Germans, ever conscious of their image to the world.
Since he is Jewish, Segal remarked, "I never expected to be in Berlin; I never expected to be in this country."
But the lure of a good script overcame his feelings, and he is here now playing a secret agent who investigates an outbreak of violence caused by latter-day Nazis.

"Of course this is a mythical movement, according to all the Germans you meet," the actor said dubiously. "They all claim that they had Jewish grandmothers; at least I have heard that several times. It is impossible to find a Nazi or ex-Nazi."
Speaking realistically, Segal commented: "It would be surprising if there weren't a resurgence of feeling for the Nazi days. Look at the immense amount of nostalgia for World War II in the United States. There must be the same kind of inclination in Germany."
"The Quiller Memorandum" is the latest advance in the remarkable climb to stardom of George Segal. Three years ago, he was slogging his way through the jungle of television series. Now he is in the splendid position of being a hot property.
The warmup started with "Ship of Fools," though he found his own work in it wanting. "King Rat" was better for him; he played the sole American in a British cast.

Then came "The Centurions," now titled "Lost Command."
TARDY TRAVELERS CATCH JET AND JOIN THE GROUP
WHITE HALL — Sixty students of the North Greene High School Senior Class made a trip to Washington, D.C. points of interest on May 18th and returned on May 21st. They were accompanied by sponsors of the class. Mrs. Dixie Kesinger, Miss Irene Livingstone, Mr. Ronald Martin and Mrs. Glen Amdal.
The group left by train from East St. Louis. Two of the students, Denise McConathy and Marcia Pence, had gone to purchase film and the train left without them. They were flown by jet that night to Washington, where they joined the members of their class.

The tour cost each student $78.55, most of the expense being paid by the class as they had been saving money throughout their school years for the trip. The cost per individual student was $30.00 plus spending money.
This was an educational tour and each student was required to take notes and prepare assignments on the sights they observed, and were collected and graded by their supervising teachers.

CARNIVAL

By Dick Turner

"I haven't heard a juicy bit of gossip like that for months!"

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Economists are more worried today about inflation than about unemployment and poverty. And economists hired by business firms are more worried than are those who teach in universities.

Most of the corporate group is against government wage-price guideposts, while the professors are evenly divided on the issue.

These are conclusions drawn from replies of 340 university economists in 46 states and 220 economists employed by business firms in 29 states to questions asked by the economic research division of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York.

Inflation is the most pressing economic problem now in the opinion of 54 per cent of the business group and 51 per cent of the academic economists. But 25 per cent of the business group thought poverty more important now, against 8 per cent of the corporate group. Balance of payments deficits were voted the most pressing by 19 per cent of the business economists, against 9 per cent of the teachers, the academic or corporate groups. The Business group thought unemployment the prime bogeyman.

Inflation is already under way, in the opinion of 94 per cent of the business economists, and 40 per cent of them think reduced federal spending would be the best way to contain it, with 28 per cent voting for higher taxes.

But of the 86 per cent of the professors who see inflation already here, only 27 per cent favored reduced federal spending and 34 per cent plunked for higher taxes.

Of the 60 per cent of the business group opposing wage-price guideposts, 52 per cent did so because it meant too much interference in the market and 32 per cent because other ways of controlling the price level seemed better. Half of the university teachers opposed the guideposts, with 44 per cent of these objectors favoring other ways, and 42 per cent condemning government interference.

The more extreme backers of the New Economics—those who say that the business cycle is dead because of new techniques—found few adherents in either the academic or corporate groups. The Business group thought unemployment the prime bogeyman.

The groups split on the conduct of the government's war on poverty. A majority in both camps favored the idea in general. But 58 per cent of the business economists disapproved the direction the war has taken so far, while 57 per cent of the teachers approved.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Honors Salvation Army

On May 21st, 1916, at Carnegie Hall in New York City, a capacity crowd saw 100 girls publicly inaugurated into the Life-Saving Guard movement launched by Evangeline Booth, then Commander of The Salvation Army forces in the United States. The movement now numbers better than 45,000 and is one of the many outreaches of The Salvation Army to youth of all races and creeds.

The Life-Saving units reach girls from the age of 6 to 18. The younger girls, 6 through 10, are known as Sunbeams and have as their motto, "Do Right." The older girls, 11 through 18, are known as Girl Guards and Senior Guards, and their motto is "To Save and To Serve." Better than 100 proficiency and rank badges can be earned by the girls, covering a host of character-building activities. Badges are worn on gray sashes over uniforms of gray and gold for the Sunbeams and grey and maroon for the Guards.

The Golden Anniversary of the local Life-Saving Units was celebrated recently at The Salvation Army Citadel, 331 West Douglas avenue. To observe the occasion, a Mother-Daughter Banquet was held with fifty in attendance.

The invocation was given by Captain Harold F. Thomas, Corps Commander. The ladies were then presented with corsages made by the Girl Guards. During the dinner, which was prepared by the ladies' Home League, First Class Sunbeam Karen Turner entertained the group by playing a piano selection, "The March of the Dwarfs."

The balance of the program was held in the chapel with the troops marching in with their newly appointed leaders. The Guards then sang, "We are Loyal Girl Guards," followed by the Sunbeams singing, "We are Happy Sunbeams." The Sunbeams, in their gay and colorful bonnets made by Mrs. Elsie Brannon for the occasion, then proceeded to present their mothers with pin cushions they had made.

Troop Committee Member, Mrs. Ruby Wardell, read a poem entitled, "Mothers," which was followed by devotions offered by Guard Chaplain, Mrs. Nina Goodall. Several piano numbers, under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Brannon, were played by the girls. "Look to Jesus and Live" was sung by the Sunbeams with First Class Sunbeam Deborah Thomas at the piano. First Class Guards Catherine Turner and Donna Grissom played "Over the Waves" and "O Susannah," respectively. The troops then performed a drill, "The Flowers in The Garden," with First Class Senior Guard Betty Viera at the piano.

Hayes gave a recitation entitled, "Grandma's Angels" and Guard Leader, Mrs. Star Grissom offered tributes to the mothers present. Girl Guards from the Illinois Avenue Outpost then sang, "The Old Time Religion," with Mrs. Mattie Jackson leading the group.

The High light of the evening was the commissioning of the new Troop leaders. Mrs. Sadie Hayes was commissioned as Sunbeam Leader, Mrs. Star Grissom as Girl Guard Leader, and Mrs. Marie Grady as Assistant - Guard Leader. Blue and Gold braid, depicting Sunshine and Purity, was pinned on the uniforms of the new leaders as they received their commissions from Captain Thomas.

also re-commissioned was Assistant Sunbeam Leader, Miss Rose Thorp, and Girl-Guard Chaplain, Mrs. Nina Goodall. Several Troop Committee members and examiners were also presented with membership cards, Miss Florence Sawyer, Mrs. Ruby Wardell, Mrs. Elsie Brannon, and Mrs. Gladys Turner.

Guards and Sunbeams present were then presented with proficiency and rank badges. thirty proficiency and three rank badges were pinned on the girls sashes. Three girls were promoted from the Sunbeam ranks into the Girl Guards, they were Joan Jackson, Linda Jackson and Sandra Williams.

Mrs. Anna Thomas, who has oversight of the troops, then announced the winners of the Guard Candy Sales. Connie Barton was crowned as Guard Candy Queen, runner-up was Betty Vieira. Deborah Thomas was crowned as Sunbeam Candy Queen, runner-up was Janet Wardell. The troops sell candy annually for uniforms and equipment. Any balance is used toward payment of their way to camp. Funds are still needed for Summer camp fees; around 55 girls and boys will be sent to Salvation Army operated camps during the course of the Summer.

The program was concluded with Assistant Guard Leader, Mrs. Marie Grady, offering the benediction.

In a war as complex, scattered and confused as the current military and political struggle in Viet Nam, it's difficult to separate hard facts from wishful thinking—or reality from well-intentioned propaganda. How do you know you're getting the truth fully and factually? Because this newspaper, as a member of The Associated Press, is getting the news from a remarkable AP team of reporters and photographers in Viet Nam. For three consecutive years, a member of this team has been singled out for the highest honor in journalism: The Pulitzer Prize. In 1964, it went to AP special-assignment writer, Malcolm Browne. In 1965, Horst Faas won. And this year, war correspondent Peter Arnett carried off the prize. All three have been part of a large contingent of courageous and skillful AP men covering the war daily from every angle. As fast as they tell us what's happening, we tell you. And you can believe it.

Everything that's going on, goes into our newspaper. That's why you get so much out of it.

Space

The guidance signal was designed to adjust the computer so that it would steer the Titan 2 into the proper path to begin the pursuit of the target.

The count was resumed twice in hope of sending the signal through but each time it was rejected.

In order to catch the target today, the Titan 2 would have had to have been launched in a six-minute period ending at 12:44 p.m. EDT.

When it became apparent the condition could not be corrected in time, mission director William C. Schneider called the launch off for two days. The reason is that the target satellite will not be in position for a pursuit until Friday morning.

The space agency will have six minutes to get the Gemini off the ground the first time Friday morning. If that doesn't work, it will have 35 more minutes beginning at 11:15 a.m. the same day.

For Stafford and Cernan, it was the second disappointment in 15 days. On May 17, their flight was scrubbed when an Agena target satellite failed to go into orbit.

For Stafford, it was the fifth trip up to a spacecraft cabin to await a launch, and the fourth time he has been frustrated.

Earlier, when test conductor Len Schull informed the astronauts in their spacecraft of the successful orbit of the target, Stafford said: "Good show, Len."

Schull replied: "We knew if you stuck there long enough you would get you a good one."

After an on-time launch of the target ship at 11 a.m. EDT a light blinked on, indicating that the shroud separated as planned with the cutoff of the Atlas booster engines. The light should have remained on, but blinked out shortly afterward.

Mission director Schneider said, however, that the blink of the light indicated a "high probability" that the shroud fell away.

Last Oct. 25, Stafford and astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. had their Gemini 6 flight postponed when the Agena target exploded in space.

On Dec. 12, another attempt to launch Gemini 6 was wiped out when the Titan 2 engines misfired. Three days later, Gemini 6 took off and executed the rendezvous with Gemini 7.

Frustrated on May 17 by rocket failure, Stafford and Cernan awoke today fit and ready for a second attempt to carry out the most difficult of U.S. space assignments.

The highlight of the exciting journey was to come Thursday, when Cernan was to leave the spacecraft and for nearly 2 1/2 hours become a human satellite hurtling through space at fantastic speed.

As the target satellite whirled into orbit, the U.S. Surveyor spacecraft was 195,000 miles from earth, streaking toward the moon on another vital mission.

Traveling at 2,430 miles an hour, Surveyor was 46,200 miles from the moon's Sea of Storms, where it was aimed for a soft-landing early Thursday morning.

Awakened at 8:11 a.m., the astronauts sailed through a physical examination, were pronounced in great health for the mission, and ate the traditional hearty breakfast of steak and eggs.

Two women were injured Monday in the most recent explosion of a homemade device resembling a large firecracker. One may lose an eye. The blast occurred in a subway station and ripped apart two telephone booths.

Police disclosed a similar bomb had been tossed into a manhole last week, temporarily impairing the hearing of two men, and another was placed in a sidewalk telephone booth but caused no injuries.

Authorities said Lattinelli was an English major in a vocational high school who was born in Italy and came to the United States from France six years ago.

The youth's father, Arturo, said he is one of four children — "a good boy — always home at 9 o'clock."

McCONEILLSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Smiling and cheerful, Peggy Ann Bradnick left the Fulton County Medical Center Tuesday where she recuperated after being held captive for a week by a kidnaper.

"I feel just fine," the pretty 17-year-old girl from Shade Gap said as she walked out of the hospital with her parents.

Peggy spent 13 days in the hospital recovering from her ordeal at the hands of William Hollenbaugh, who abducted her last May 11 as she walked to her mountain home after school.

During that week's episode, Hollenbaugh killed an FBI agent, and wounded another man before he was shot down in a gun battle at nearby Fort Litleton.

Dr. G. T. Lorentz, the girl's attending doctor, said: "Peggy's feet are still a little tender, otherwise, she is doing well."

He said there are no restrictions on her activity.

Seek Compromise To Avoid Open Fight Over CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders agreed today to try to work out a compromise and avoid an open floor fight over supervision of the top secret Central Intelligence Agency.

With a head-on clash scheduled in the Senate today, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called in opposing forces to arrange a truce.

Afterward, Mansfield announced that the Senate debate over activities of the spy agency will not take place this week. He added that a compromise could be worked out.

Sitting in on the peace party were chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the present select seven member panel which oversees the CIA; chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which wants three of its members added to the Senate monitoring group; and Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and John Stennis, D-Miss.

Cuban Exile Group Plans Unified Efforts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A newly formed Cuban exile group says it took part in last weekend's unsuccessful attempt to infiltrate Cuba and plans to step up its activities against the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The Cuban Exile Representation — RECE — announced Tuesday it has joined with two anti-Castro groups as a coordinated movement seemed to be gathering momentum among the divided exile front.

Intensive negotiations were reported for a wide-ranging alliance that would include at least four other militant anti-Castro groups.

"Instead of going it alone, exile groups now are going to coordinate efforts," said RECE spokesman Ernesto Freyre. "Together we can accomplish our aim."

"Losing one battle does not mean you have lost the war," he said of the six anti-Castro revolutionaries who attempted to infiltrate Cuba by launch last weekend. Two were killed, two were wounded and captured and two are presumed drowned.

Milk Prices Up Cent On Quart

Dairy product distributors in Jacksonville have all, as of today, raised the price of milk one cent per quart, according to a spokesman for the local industry.

During the past two weeks, three of the four dairy product distributors made the one-cent increase. A fourth announced the price rise to customers Tuesday, effective Wednesday.

Local distributors defended the increase, maintaining that milk prices in surrounding towns of Springfield, Quincy, Beardstown and Ashland have all been high, while Jacksonville prices have stayed the same.

Beardstown milk prices were quoted at least three to four cents higher.

The reason for the price rise was credited to increased production costs.

Prices of a quart of milk at three local retail outlets ranged from 25c at store 1, 24c at store 2, and 25c at store 3, while one-half gallon varied from 36c at store 1; 37c at store 2, and 41c at store 3.

Miller Sentenced To Ten-Year Term

An 18-year-old Jacksonville youth, Karl Von Miller, was sentenced to from two to ten years at Menard prison on his plea of guilty to theft of an auto from the Glisson Motor Co. last Jan. 25, plus a second term of from one to three years on his plea of guilty to trying to escape from the sheriff.

Sentence was passed Wednesday morning by Circuit Judge William Chamberlain. Judge Chamberlain explained to Miller that the length of the sentence would be determined by his conduct while an inmate at the prison and that both sentences would be served concurrently.

Miller would be eligible for parole, provided he serves as a "model" prisoner, within eighteen months.

Miller was charged with the theft of an automobile during a break-in at Glisson Ford Co. on January 25. After a high-speed chase involving several police officers and subsequent accidents, Miller fled on foot and was not apprehended for several hours after being caught at the scene with three other youths. Two of the persons involved are still being sought by police.

Miller was also charged with trying to escape when he fled from the sheriff's car on foot at a court appearance. He was later flushed out of hiding in an apartment near the courthouse.

A series of psychiatric tests and examinations ordered by the court determined Miller to be of sound mind prior to sentencing Wednesday.

Miller was represented by Public Defender Larry Flynn. State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan represented the people.

In other court action, Judge Chamberlain ordered the bond of William Elliott of 201 1/2 North Prairie forfeited. Elliott had entered a plea of guilty to forgery and asked probation. He posted $3,000 bond and was to appear Wednesday for the probation hearing. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

Brock Pleads Guilty To Cohen Shooting; Gets 14 To 18 Years

The accused slayer of a former Jacksonville woman pleaded guilty to murder before Circuit Judge William H. Chamberlain Tuesday in Springfield and was sentenced from 14 to 18 years in prison. Robert E. Brock, 36, formerly of Peoria, pleaded guilty to murdering Mrs. Pauline Cohen, 39, of West Dundee, formerly of Jacksonville, July 26.

The body of Mrs. Cohen, a former nightclub singer, and married to Jerry Cohen, former resident of Jacksonville, was found July 26 in a cornfield north of Springfield. She had been shot in the head at close range by a .25 caliber automatic pistol. Brock also pleaded guilty to the charge of car theft, and was sentenced from 1 to 5 years, to run concurrently with the murder charge.

He had been sought for questioning in connection with the Cohen death for some months before he was taken into custody in El Paso, Texas. Brock was later returned to Springfield, where he was formally charged.

Explains Sentence Judge Chamberlain, in sentencing Brock, told reporters that there were extenuating circumstances relating to the murder. He explained that the Cohen woman had made "unusual" demands of Brock while brandishing the pistol. Joseph Maddox, public defender, asked Chamberlain to read details of Brock's confession, which included 20 pages, and was taken by a court reporter, into the proceedings. Chamberlain said he preferred not to go into the details of the confession, but added only they were "rather sordid." Chamberlain commented that the Brock trial was expected to

Advanced Education Prepares Students For Tomorrow—Cass

Today's college students are being educated for a world that does not yet exist, James Cass told the 156 students who were graduated from MacMurray College on Sunday. Cass, the associate education editor of Saturday Review, pointed out the fact that the sum total of human knowledge is doubling every ten years, adding: "The layman's mind boggles at the rapidity of the changes and the complexity of the knowledge that is revolutionizing our increasingly technological world."

He predicted that more than half of the graduates in the audience would eventually be in jobs that do not now exist, and that the special skills they have developed will either disappear or become obsolete.

Because of the complexity of today's changing world, Cass told the graduates. "It seems clear that it is far less important what you have learned in the course of the past four years, than what you have become. What you have become is what will make the difference in the years ahead."

He applauded MacMurray's academic program which emphasizes the liberal arts and humanities.

He said: "I can only hope that many of you have been thoroughly infected by the ancient virus of the liberal arts—that this exposure has proved for you a truly liberating experience. For there is no better means that man has devised to date, for preparing young people to meet an unknown—and ever-changing—future."

He also mentioned the potential value of a small college which can offer great opportunities for contact with professors.

But he also cautioned that graduates that the end result depends not only upon a program of studies or professors, but upon the students themselves.

He concluded his address by expressing his hopes for the graduates. "I hope," he said, "that you have become profoundly dissatisfied with the world in which you live—that you have developed a passion for destroying the inequalities and injustices in our society. That you recognize and reject the hypocrisy, the sham, and the distortions of half truth." He also hoped that today's graduates will devote themselves to the cause of individual freedom—"freedom to expand horizons and broaden opportunities both for yourself and for your fellow men."

Another of his hopes was that students had been "seduced by the fascination of knowing and the pleasures of learning." He cited man's true enemy as ignorance. MacMurray's 115th commencement took place under sunny skies on the lawn of Ann Rutledge Hall. Some 1500 persons, parents and friends of the graduates and the college, attended the ceremonies.

Local Graduates Jacksonville students who were awarded degrees were: Miss Kirsten Alousow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Alousow of 556 S. Clay, Bachelor of Arts degree in History; Gwendolyn Halter Bodine, 2200 Boley Dr., Lansing, Mich. (formerly of Jacksonville), daughter of Mrs. B. S. Halter of 539 N. Dexter Dr., Lansing, Bachelor of Elementary Education; Miss Sherry Ellen Carver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carver of 1009 W. State St., Bachelor of Arts degree in Special Education; Walter Fife, 294 Finley, Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology; Miss Pamela Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Saunders of Ladue Acres, Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education; Robert Owen Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Thomas of Black Hawk Heights, Ft. Madison, Iowa, Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education.

Polly's Pointers

Dog Totes

House Key

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—This Pointer was my husband's idea so he deserves all the credit. Living in an apartment and having a dog to take out several times a day meant that invariably we would forget the door key. My husband fastened a door key to the end of the dog's leash so now we have no more fear of getting locked out. There are no more trips to hunt the building custodian and no frustrations as the key is right at our fingertips.—F.E.B.
DEAR POLLY—Put a small piece of paper towel in your salt shaker and you will never be bothered with clogged salt on damp or rainy days.—JANIE
DEAR POLLY—My 78-year-old mother loves to knit ripple design afghans but finds it hard to distinguish colors at night. She puts each ball of yarn in a plastic bag with a band around the top just tight enough so the yarn can be drawn through as she knits. The side of each bag is numbered so No. 1 is a dark shade of a color, No. 2 is the next lighter shade of the same color and so on. She now has no trouble getting the colors right.—LETA

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I wonder if one of the readers might be able to tell me how to remove a blood stain that is really set on the arm of a pink sweater.—MRS. R. J. J.

DEAR POLLY—The head of a rag doll I recently made would not stand upright so I put a tongue depressor down through a slit I cut in the neck and it went down into the body about four inches. I cut a hole in the head and the rest of the depressor went up into the head. I then did an overcast stitch to hold the neck onto the head. The doll now has a good spinal column, or at least part of one, and can hold her head erect.—MYRTLE

DEAR POLLY—Extra support can be provided for a long closet pole by driving a double coat and hat hook into the shelf above so that the pole rests in the grooved section of the rear hook. The front hook can be used for extra hanging, too.—DOROTHY
DEAR POLLY—Glue thick strips of a plastic sponge to a yardstick so as to cover half its length. Dip in sudsy water and use to clean those hard-to-get areas between cabinets, behind the stove and so on.—JUNE

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Pointers.

Reports Parliament Proceedings To Queen

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
LONDON (AP) — Jack McCann sits down just about every day and writes to Queen Elizabeth II.

The assignment makes him the most unusual political correspondent in the world.

Few writers have a smaller readership.

None reaches a more distinguished audience.

"Mr. McCann with his humble duty," he begins.

Then he sets forth an account of what has happened that day in the mother of parliaments.

"I try to capture the spirit of the proceedings in the chamber," McCann says.

"If the House erupts in anger I tell the queen why. If members double up with laughter I describe what started it all. And my aim throughout is to stay objective."

McCann is Laborite member of Parliament for the Lancashire seat of Rochdale.

He was appointed in April by Prime Minister Harold Wilson as vice chamberlain of the royal household.

The post carries with it a traditional duty started in 1783 by King George III.

The report is supposed to describe incidents and atmosphere in the House "during the early part of the day."

Monarchs of the kingdom have been barred from entering the Commons in session ever since King Charles in the 17th century marched in and tried to arrest several members.

Fussy old Queen Victoria used to insist on the prime minister of the day writing the report. With the 20th century, British premiers discreetly delegated the duty to the vice chamberlain of the royal household.

McCann, who worked his way through night school, writes the report in his own hand Monday to Thursday when Parliament is sitting.

"It's left entirely to my own discretion as to what I present to the queen to read," McCann said. "Naturally I try to make it chatty and readable and not merely a straight account of the proceedings."

McCann's reports average about 700 words but on dull days they are considerably less.

He completes his dispatch three or four hours after the House meets.

Then he hands it in at the Commons post office.

It is delivered as a telegram to Buckingham Palace by a messenger.

The queen gets it just before dinner when she is in London. If she's out of the country the reports are turned into a weekly account and then radioed or delivered to her by courier.

serm where it was let.
The names of the boys who found the bomb casing was not obtained by the parties at the sheriff's office when the metal device was left there.
Investigation thus far indicates the device may have been dropped sometime last year from a plane involved in a local crash.
One of the planes being tested last year for a St. Louis company crashed in the Cahoon area. The pilot parachuted to safety at the time.
Deputy Sheriff Hargiss Maholland stated that parts of the plane had been picked up at several points some distance from the spot where the plane finally crashed. Maholland stated that he had been informed that planes being tested often carry bombs in the blank form.

Jim: "I sort of reverse the word 'ARCH' and ask myself, 'How can I make this hand?' I study the opening lead to see if my opponents have led against my weakest suit. They usually seem to do that nasty thing. Then I check to see if I can collect enough tricks to make my contract before they set up their suit and cash enough tricks to beat me."

Oswald: "Today's hand illustrates this. South has the four top hearts but unfortunately for his peace of mind and general well-being these four cards can only take two tricks. He misses two aces and if his opponents set up their suit they will make at least three heart tricks and set him. It is up to South to find a way to get nine tricks without giving up the lead more than once."

Jim: "A quick check would show me that I had three suits to work on. I could knock out the ace of spades and wind up with three spades, two hearts and two diamonds but that would be only seven tricks. I could go after diamonds and set up my long diamonds right away assuming that suit broke but that would also leave me only seven tricks before the roof fell in."

Oswald: "That leaves the club suit. You can attack that by winning the first heart with your queen and leading the nine of clubs from your hand. You plan to let it ride if West plays low. If East produces the queen you will have to reconcile yourself to going down at least two tricks but if it turns out that West holds the queen of clubs you have a chance to establish five club tricks for yourself. Five clubs plus two hearts plus two diamonds gives you the nine tricks you need."

Radio Havana Carrying Red Message Near And Far

HAVANA (AP) — "The Cuban revolution is the example of liberation for all the peoples of the world," said the weak new voice on the airwaves.
"What Cuba has done is possible for all who wish to cast off the yoke of imperialism."
The faint sputtering voice of Fidel Castro's Radio Havana was first heard May 1, 1961. It is now a vital force in carrying the Cuban message to near and distant lands.
"Before RHC (its initials) the Yankees could say what they wanted without challenge," a Cuban radio newsman says. "Now, we give it right back to them—and more."
Transmitting from what it calls "the first free territory in America," Radio Havana is battling against "the systematic organized lies of the imperialists."
Cuba says fabrications against the Castro regime are disseminated by American news agencies, the U.S. government-controlled Voice of America radio, U.S. diplomats abroad, the U.S. Information Agency and Cuban exiles, among others.
Havana Radio is a 24-hour operation. It broadcasts in eight languages: Spanish, French, English, Portuguese, Arabic, Creole (the Haitian dialect of French), Guarani (Paraguayan) and Quechua, the language of the Peruvian Indians.
One of its more important propaganda fixtures is called "The Friendly Voice of Cuba."

Sox' Hansen May Be Out For Season

CHICAGO (AP) — Shortstop Ron Hansen of the Chicago White Sox probably will be sidelined the rest of the season because of a ruptured spinal disc, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The injury was discovered in a test at Mercy Hospital, and Dr. Joseph Coyle, team physician, said Hansen must undergo surgery.

Hansen, 28, hurt his left ankle on opening day. His left leg grew progressively more painful as he continued to play and he left the Sox line-up May 14. Tuesday's rest called a myelogram, showed a defect between the fifth lumbar vertebra and the sacrum, Dr. Coyle said.

The club immediately placed Hansen on the emergency disabled list. Hansen, starting his fourth White Sox season, was batting .176 for 23 games when he left the line-up.

Since Hansen's departure, Al Weis and rookie Lee Elia have alternated at shortstop.

White's Homer Carries Phils Past Mets, 6-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill White's home run in the fifth inning snapped a 4-4 tie and the Philadelphia Phillies held off the New York Mets 6-4 Tuesday night behind the tight relief pitching of Ray Herbert.

Herbert took over for starter Chris Short in the third inning and blanked the Mets on three hits until the ninth, when he needed help from Darold Knowles.

White led off the fifth against reliever Larry Bearnarth with his seventh homer, a liner over the scoreboard in right field.

The Phils' first baseman added a run-scoring single in the ninth for his third hit of the game.

Sanders won three of the 17 tournaments in which he played and was among the first five finishers four times. He had $54,551 in official winnings and $19,998 in unofficial money, the PGA reported Tuesday.

Frank Beard was in second place with $51,027, including $49,230 in official winnings and $1,797 unofficial. His $49,230 official money put him just ahead of Gay Brewer, who won $48,730 in official PGA tournaments. Brewer banked $3,908 in other events for a total of $52,638.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Chicago Cubs took advantage of a wild streak by Pittsburgh southpaw Bob Veale in the fifth inning Tuesday night and scored two runs that held up for a 2-1 victory over the Pirates.

Ernie Broglio walked seven but limited the Pirates to four hits and led off the Cubs' decisive inning with a double.

He advanced to third on a wild pitch, then Veale hit Adolfo Phillips with a pitch before Joe Amalfitano scored Broglio with a sacrifice fly. After Billy Williams lined out, Phillips stole second and Ron Santo singled him home with the winning run. The Cards came up with four runs in the bottom of the sixth to down the Dodgers, 6-4, while the Tigers trounced the Red Sox, 18-7, in Little League play Tuesday evening.

The Cards trailed 3-0 from the first until the fourth when they picked up a pair, then tied the contest with four in the sixth. Two Card pitchers combined for a three-hit shutout.

The Tigers pounded out 12 safeties in their easy romp over the Red Sox. Bob Ware pounded a pair of home runs and a double to lead the way.

In Monday's action the Cubs scored in the ninth inning to shade the Braves, 7-6, in a game highlighted by 28 hits, and the Orioles erupted for five big runs in the top of the sixth but fell one short in a 6-5 loss to the Indians.

Reichardt Shows Plenty Of Talent

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Reichardt, California's $200,000 bonus player, is displaying a wealth of baseball talent in his rookie season with the Angels.

The 6-foot-3, 215-pound outfielder from Madison, Wis., has forged into third place in the American League batting race and is tied for the circuit's home run lead.

Meanwhile, Manny Mota of Pittsburgh has moved into the National League batting lead. The latest averages through Monday's games, list him on top with a .375 mark followed by teammate Matty Alou and Houston's Dave Nicholson, .333 each.

Reichardt collected eight hits in 25 tries last week and lifted his average to .313. He had one homer, giving him 12 for the campaign, and placing him in a deadlock with Boston's George Scott, another first-year player.

Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins continues to head the batting competition despite a 23-point drop to .351. He had only nine hits in 33 attempts.

Baltimore's Brooks Robinson advanced to second although he lost 13 points to .318 with an 8-for-31 performance. Frank Robinson, also of the Orioles, slumped to fourth with a 34-point decrease to .303. The former Cincinnati star had only four safeties in 26 attempts last week.

Mota has 33 hits in 88 official trips. The leaders are based on a minimum of 75 at bats.

The Pirates' Alou, the leader a week ago, slipped 21 points with a 9-for-33 showing. Nicholson had eight safeties in 18 tries and rushed up to tie for the runner-up position.

Willie McCovey of San Francisco fell one notch to fourth at .331.

Hank Aaron of Atlanta continues to lead in the NL in home runs and runs batted in. He had one homer and two runs batted in last week, lifting his season totals to 16 homers and 34 RBIs.

Johnson Swings Hot Stick In 14-5 Win Over Twins

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Dave Johnson, hot-hitting rookie second baseman, smacked a three-run triple in the first inning and Andy Etchebarren also drove in three runs on a double and homer as Baltimore blasted Minnesota 14-5 Tuesday.

The Orioles rapped four Minnesota pitchers for 19 hits. Johnson, who had five hits in Monday's doubleheader, gave the Orioles a 4-0 lead in the first inning with his drive to center of Minnesota starter and loser Camilo Pascual. Etchebarren's two-run double capped the six-run uprising.

Minnesota knocked out Baltimore starter Dave McNally with four runs in the first inning on Tony Oliva's run-producing single and Rich Rollins' three-run homer. Oliva hit his 11th homer with the bases empty in the third off Baltimore reliever Eddie Watt, who notched his fifth victory in six decisions. ## U.S. WIGHTMAN CUP TEAM SELECTED

NEW YORK (AP) — Three youngsters not yet old enough to vote were named Tuesday to the U. S. Wightman Cup team which will meet Britain's best women tennis players at Wimbledon June 10-11.

The younger members of the American squad, announced by Mrs. Margaret du Pont, are Julie Heldman, 20, of New York; Jjane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., who will be 20 Thursday; and Mary Ann Eisel, 19, of St. Louis.

They will be bulkwarked by the two veterans who share the No. 1 women's ranking in the United States—Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King, 22, of Long Beach, Calif., and Nancy Richey, 23, of Dallas, Tex. Winnie Shaw, a 19-year-old Scot girl who has been a sensation this year, is a newcomer to the British squad. Other members are Rita Bentley, Ann Haydon Jones, Elizabeth Starkey and Virginia Wade.

The British will be captained by Angela Mortimer. Margaret Varner is the U. S. captain and Doris Hart is the coach.

Casanova Ruins Houk Strategy, Senators Win 5-1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Casanova wrecked Ralph Houk's strategy with a three-run double and Pete Richter fired a four-hitter Tuesday night, leading the Washington Senators to a 5-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

The Senators broke a scoreless tie with four runs in the fourth inning. Casanova's double cashing in the first three after Houk, the Yankee manager, had ordered an intentional walk to Don Lock that loaded the bases.

The victory was Richter's first over the Yanks, who beat him four times last season, his first in the American League.

Conigliaro HR Carries Sox Over Chicago 1-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Tony Conigliaro's eighth homer of the season and brilliant seven-hit shutout pitching by veteran southpaw Dick Stigman carried the Boston Red Sox to a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday.

The triumph snapped Boston's three-game losing streak and was the first of the season for Stigman who struck out eight and bested Chicago's Joel Horlen in an outstanding pitching duel.

Frenchman Ousts Emerson From Tennis Tournery

PARIS (AP) — Wimbledon champion Roy Emerson of Australia was knocked out of both singles and doubles in the French International Tennis Tournament Tuesday, and he said he probably never would play on Paris courts again.

Francois Jauffret, a French dark horse, capitalized on some favorable line calls and beat the veteran Aussie in the singles quarter-finals 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-6, 6-4.

Then Emerson and teammate Fred Stolle, rated the world's best doubles team, bowed to a pair of Russians, Alexander Litkatchev and Alexander Metreveli 4-6, 6-3, 11-9, 9-7.

"It's almost certain I won't be back next year," Emerson said. "I plan to cut down my touring. I'll probably limit my schedule to Wimbledon and a few others — maybe two months of tennis."

The loss in singles smashed Emerson's hopes of winning the tennis Grand Slam — the Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. titles — achieved only by Don Budge in 1938 and Rod Laver in 1962. Emerson already had won the Australian this year.

Jauffret entered the semifinals along with Tony Roche, younger member of the Australian team, who turned back Alexander Metreveli of Russia 5-7, 6-3, 6-1, 7-5. Metreveli had ousted America's top-ranked Dennis Ralston in the previous round.

Jauffret and Roche meet in the semifinals, with the other match involving Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and Istvan Gulyas of Hungary, who advanced Monday.

The quarter-final round in women's singles will be played Wednesday. The United States has two survivors in Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., and Julie Heldman of New York.

Miss Heldman teamed with Ann Haydon Jones of Britain for a quarter-final women's doubles victory. They defeated Carol and Gail Sherriff of Australia 6-3, 6-4.

THE BEST? San Francisco's Juan Marichal shows the form which is allowing him to quickly close in on claiming the number one spot among major league pitchers. Marichal is currently 10-0.

Marichal Struggles To 10th In Row 5-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — Unbeaten Juan Marichal was in deep trouble in the last two innings but the San Francisco Giants' star right-hander struggled through to his 10th straight victory Tuesday night, a 5-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

Leo Cardenas broke Mari-chal's string of 30 scoreless innings with a seventh-inning homer, and rapped a two-run homer in the ninth.

Marichal, who drove in two runs with a double, went the distance for the ninth time. He gave up seven hits, struck out nine and walked three.

The high-kicking right-hander had to strike out John Edwards to get out of a bases-loaded jam in the fourth, struck out Art Shamsky with two on in the eighth and then gave up the two-run homer to Cardenas in the ninth.

Horse Race Program Set Here Sunday

Harness horse races, harness pony races and quarter horse dashes are on the program for the matinee event Sunday, June 5 at the Morgan County fairgrounds sponsored by the Morgan County Saddle club for the benefit of Pathway school, a private school for retarded children.

The program will bring many horses which will be seen later this year on the county fair circuit in both the colt and open classifications to the Jacksonville track, called one of the best in Central Illinois.

Four classes are offered in the harness horse classification, an open trot, open pace, green trot for colts and green pace for colts. Entries may be made up to 10 a.m. Saturday, June 4, with Fred Wharton, speed superintendent and race manager. Blankets will be awarded race winners with halters and whips for other finishers.

Two classes are offered for harness pony events, one for ponies under 47 inches and the other for ponies over 47 inches. Ray Samples is manager of the harness pony events and will take entries until 10 a.m. Saturday prior to the racing day.

The number of events to be offered in the quarter horse division will be determined by the number of entries. All quarter horse events will be sprints for a quarter of a mile and the number of races will be determined by the number of entries. Ray Samples also is in charge of this portion of the afternoon's program.

Dodgers Claim 7th In Last 8 Games In 6-2 Win

ATLANTA (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers knocked out Wade Blasingame in a three-run burst in the first inning and went on to whip Atlanta 6-2 Tuesday night for their seventh victory in their last eight games.

Claude Osteen pitched 6 1-3 innings for his sixth victory and smashed a bases-empty homer for the Dodgers. Phil Regan came on in the seventh when Osteen developed a blister on his pitching hand.

Blasingame, 3-4, walked Jim Gilliam with one out in the first inning, gave up a triple to Lou Johnson and walked Jim LeFebvre before giving way to reliever Billy O'Dell. Al Ferrara clipped O'Dell for a two-run double, capping the rally.

MELE EXPECTED TO RETURN TODAY

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, whose leg trouble turned out to be nothing more serious than a pulled muscle, is expected back at the helm Wednesday when the Twins open a baseball series here with Detroit.

Mele was hospitalized Monday. Dr. Bill Proffitt, the club physician, said there was some fear the trouble might be a recurrence of phlebitis, an inflammation of the veins.

It was determined in the hospital, however, that a muscle in Mele's right calf was pulled. The assumption was that it happened Sunday when Mele leaped out of the dugout in Cleveland to argue with an umpire.

Coach Hal Naragon led the team during Mele's absence.

Say Indy Crash May Give Clues To Safer Starts

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Insurance Institute of Indiana said Tuesday the first-lap crash in the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race may hold some clues for better traffic safety.

Allen Dale, the group's executive vice president, said, "The fact no driver was seriously injured in the 16-car pileup suggests either a miracle occurred or there is something special about race cars and racing equipment that helps prevent personal injury."

He urged all traffic safety organizations to make a thorough study of the multi-car accident.

"Until photographs and films are studied and all drivers involved are interviewed," he said, "no one will know exactly what provided the margin of safety on the race track that in all probability would not be present on the highway."

Harada Defends Bantam Title

TOKYO (AP) — Fighting Harada of Japan, younger, heavier and stronger, hammered out a unanimous 15-round decision Tuesday night over former titleholder Eder Jofre of Brazil for a successful defense of his world bantamweight boxing championship.

Jofre and his manager, Abraham Katzenelson, complained afterward that the champion was guilty of dirty fighting, pushing and butting and should have been denied the verdict. They made no official protest, however.

The 23-year-old Harada, seven years younger and at 118 two pounds heavier than the challenger, used his youth and weight to advantage in pressing the bout all the way.

At the finish, Jofre appeared very tired. His body was red and bruised from the blows Harada threw at close quarters. The Brazilian's left eye was red, swollen and pouring blood.

Katzenelson said the cut came from a Harada head butt in the 14th round.

"Without that dirty headwork the result would have been different," the challenger's manager said.

Referee Nick Pope, an American government employee living in Japan, scored the fight 69-63 for Harada. Judge Takeo Ugo had it 71-69 and judge Hiroyuki Tezaki made it 71-68, both for the champion. The Associated Press gave the bout to Harada 73-68.

There were no knockdowns but action was plentiful in the fight staged before a crowd of 15,000 in Budokan Hall, one of the arenas built for the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

OREGON STATE NAMES NEW ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Barratt became acting athletic director when Slat's Gill died recently.

Ward Quits Racing

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Rodger Ward, one of the greatest drivers in American auto racing history, quit the sport dramatically Tuesday night.

The two-time winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race, twice national champion, told the traditional speedway victory dinner:

"I promised myself years ago that whenever auto racing stopped being fun for me, I would quit. Yesterday, it wasn't fun."

The 45-year-old veteran choked up, waved his hand at the crowd and said, "I'll see you all . . . and stumbled back to his seat at the head table.

He was given a standing ovation as the audience pressed to hug and slap him on the back.

Ward won the Indianapolis classic in 1959 and 1962. He leads the active and all-time standings with 16,524 points. He is the only driver who has ever competed at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and is listed in the top 10 in all divisions of the all-time speedway records.

He picked up $11,857 Tuesday night for his 15th-place finish Monday. Last year, Ward failed to qualify for the 500 for the first time in 15 years.

Ward lives in Indianapolis. He is the father of four.

Major Leagues Set Free-Agent Draft Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert said Tuesday the annual summer free-agent draft by major and minor league teams would be held June 7-8 at the Hotel Roosevelt.

The big league clubs will select in inverse order of their 1965 finish with the New York Mets getting first pick from the latest crop of high school graduates, sandlot and college players. The minor league farms will follow in the same order as the parent teams.

Kansas City had the No. 1 draft last year and selected outfielder Rick Monday of Arizona State, subsequently signed for a $104,000 bonus. The A's will follow the Mets this year with the selections alternating back and forth from league to league by position.

The 20th and final pick will be made by the Minnesota Twins.

Each major league team can take one player. Each Triple A club can take two, each double A team four and each Class A team an unlimited number. In the 1965 summer draft a total of 813 men were picked, of whom 459 eventually signed.

Athletics Drub Detroit By 7-1

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Danny Cater and Mike Hersberger drove in two runs apiece as the Kansas City Athletics rapped 7 hits and stunned the Detroit Tigers 7-1 Tuesday night.

Cater collected three hits and Hersberger two, pacing the A's to their highest hit total of the season, while Larry Stahl homered.

Fred Talbot posted his third pitching victory against four losses. The Kansas City right-hander lost his shutout in the eighth when Al Kaline singled in a run, then was lifted in the ninth after a leadoff double by Orlando McFarlane and a walk.

Hersberger's double and Cater's single gave the A's a 1-0 lead in the opening inning. They scored another run in the second on a walk and Joe Niese's double, then knocked out Detroit starter Bill Monbouquette with two runs in the fourth.

THREE BRANCHES
There are three branches to the federal government, each having separate authority. The legislative branch (Congress) makes laws; the executive branch (President) carries out the laws; the judicial branch (courts) interprets the laws.

Hill Gets $156,297 For Indy Triumph

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Graham Hill of London, winner of the 1966 Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, collected $156,297 Tuesday night as his share of the race's $691,304.90 purse.

The total was somewhat less than Jimmy Clark of Scotland, last year's winner and this year's runner-up, collected in 1965. Last year's top prize for Clark was $166,621 from a total purse of $628,399.23.

The 1966 total was made up of $545,289 in speedway prizes, $116,015.90 from accessory manufacturers and $30,000 in lap prize money.

Earlier Tuesday, officials confirmed as expected that former world champion Hill won the event on his first attempt.

Hill won only $1,500 in lap money because he was in front just 10 of the 200 laps. His winnings, besides money, include the Mercury Comet Cyclone pace car, $1,500 worth of clothes, a $500 U.S. savings bond, tools, jewelry, blankets and assorted other merchandise trophies.

Jimmy Clark won $76,992 this year.

The prize list released Tuesday night at the victory banquet did not necessarily taper the money according to the finish. Winnings also are based on qualification endeavors and number of laps led.

GOLFERS TUNE UP FOR MEMPHIS OPEN

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Some of the nation's top golfers fired practice rounds over the Colonial Country Club course Tuesday, honing their game for the start of the $100,000 Memphis Open Thursday.

The field will battle a par of 70 over a course that stretches 6,500 yards and is in perhaps its best condition since the tournament began nine years ago.

With good weather, the 72-hole test should end Sunday. The pro-am competition will come off Wednesday.

Ben Hogan began taking his practice licks Monday, along with two other former national open champs, Julius Boros and Memphis' own Cary Middlecott. Gary Player was due in Tuesday night. Jack Nicklaus, Masters champion and defender in the Memphis Open, will fly in Wednesday morning.

Player, Nicklaus, Hogan and Tony Lema, winner of last week's Oklahoma City Open, will be among the favorites.

SET NATIONAL SAFE BOATING FETES

President Johnson has proclaimed the week of July 3 through 9 National Safe Boating Week. All across the country there will be parades, regattas, water shows, safety demonstrations and other events to mark the observance. They will be sponsored by more than 1,000 committees of boating organizations and individual boatmen.

The nation's boating enthusiasts have plenty of reason to celebrate. They have built a remarkable safety record for their sport — virtually no increase in boating accidents over the past 10 years, despite rapidly increasing boating activity. This achievement is by no means an accident. Thousands of boatmen have worked tirelessly to preserve that record by instructing novice skippers in the art of seamanship and by setting an example of common sense and courtesy on the waterways. These dedicated sportsmen deserve a celebration.

But all the hoopla has a serious purpose, too. That of focusing attention on the ever-present need for keeping all boatmen safety conscious. The U.S. Coast Guard points out that many accidents are caused by newcomers to the sport. These people owe it to themselves, to their families and to their fellow boatmen to learn and practice the "nautical rules of the road." Experienced skippers, however, cause a much larger percentage of boating mishaps through their thoughtlessness. Mere knowledge of safe boating fundamentals isn't enough — they must be put into practice.

The vast majority of America's boating families, however, are careful and courteous. Their motto is "Safe Boating is Fun." The proof of the pudding is boating's outstanding safety record. Well Done, skippers! Carry On!

View Meat Prices As Main Cause Of Food Cost Hike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Meat and meat substitutes were singled out Tuesday as the culprits in a steady advance of household food costs during the past year.

An Associated Press budget brigade of housewives who sampled prices in 12 major cities came up with the same finding as surveyors for the government cost of living index:

A family of strict vegetarians could have eaten as cheaply in mid-March, 1966, as in mid-March, 1965.

But the cost of feeding a meat-eating household rose during the same period by approximately 7 per cent.

21.5 Per Cent Increase
 During the year, taking the government national average as a base, the price of a pound each of sirloin steak, hamburger, pork chops, whole ham, bacon and lamb chops rose 21.5 per cent — from $5.12 to $6.22.

At the same time, a range of meat substitutes including a dozen eggs and a pound each of frying chicken, turkey, haddock and American processed cheese went up 12.5 per cent — from $2.32 to $2.61.

By contrast, the total cost of 29 other items on a typical shopping list, including fruits, vegetables, coffee and canned goods, actually declined a few pennies, from $11.70.5 in mid-March, 1965, to $11.62.6 in mid-March, 1966.

However, the overall shopping bill rose from $19.15 to $20.46.2. The AP housewives made their independent price surveys in three supermarkets in each of the 12 cities on March 10 — approximately the same time as the monthly government check in a wider range of stores, including independents. The government checks 38 other cities as well to arrive at its national averages.

The AP budget brigade agreed that hunting "specials" and lowest prices from store to store could save a shopper a good deal of money, but said it would be prohibitively time-consuming.

The National Association of Food Chains, representing 250 major retail outlets, suggested recently that food costs could be cut by "smart shopping" and "buymanism."

Costs Vary
 The Associated Press checker in Chicago, for instance, found that the total cost of the 40 items she priced was $20.43 in store 1, $20.29 in store 2 and $18.89 in store 3, an average of $19.87.

If she had then retraced her steps, buying each item at the store which quoted the lowest price for it, she could have filled her basket for $17.62.

Having done so, this housewife would have had little time left for other home-making chores. So in practice housewives tend to do all their shopping at the store which past experience tells them consistently provides best value for money.

And if a housewife does all her shopping at one store, even taking advantage of its specials for the day, the St. Louis checker remarked, "it doesn't matter much which store you shop at — they'll get all your money anyway."

"I was saving money for my food budget last summer and now I can just make it," she added.

Food prices make up 22.5 per cent of the government's consumer price index, which each month measures a broad range of prices which eat up the budget of the typical family. The March index was up 2.8 per cent compared with a year earlier, and up 7.2 per cent for food alone. In April the food index finally leveled off, with a one-month rise of only .1 of 1 per cent.

Misleading
 The National Association of Food Chains declared that the government index on foods may be misleading because it "necessarily deals in national averages, which may or may not reflect what happened" in a specific locality.

However, the findings of the AP housewives budget brigade closely paralleled those of the government's official price samplers, who shopped a wider range of stores, including independents.

The surveyors differed on the costliest city, the government checkers nominating San Francisco with an average of $21.27 and the AP brigade naming Boston, with $21.06.

Cities in between the extremes were Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Washington.

AP's housewives reported wide price variations on the same items from store to store in their cities. The Cleveland checker found a special on sirloin steak for 89 cents a pound while another store was charging $1.29. In Detroit the price of a pound of whole ham ranged from 59 cents to 79 cents.

Variations from city to city, especially in meat prices, were even greater. The AP checker in Los Angeles reported an average price of $1.75 for sirloin steak against $1.02.3 in Cleveland and $1.03 in Detroit. The average pork chop price ranged from $1.30.3 in San Francisco to 95 cents in New York.

Comments
 Comment by the AP housewives brigade included:

Los Angeles — "We eat more chicken and, occasionally, fish than we did before. We buy the more expensive meat cuts only when they are on sale and store them in the freezer for future use."

Detroit — "President Johnson's 'Great Society' and 'war on poverty' aren't designed for the middle-class people. The average housewife finds herself buying a lower quality item today to keep her budget balanced."

Cleveland — "Food prices have risen exorbitantly. My budget is strained to the breaking point."

San Francisco — "The budget can be strained a little less, in my opinion, by buying smaller quantities more often. Concentrating on today's and tomorrow's meals, closing the eyes to items not really needed, can result in more interesting meals and less money expended." Sample Prices

Outlines Billion Dollar Plan For Safer Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 The president of the National Safety Council said today the number of traffic deaths in the nation could be cut in half, at least, by the expenditure of $1 billion more a year on traffic safety.

Howard Pyle said that if this money had been spent in the past year, the highway death toll would have been nowhere near the record figure of the Memorial Day holiday weekend just ended.

542 Killed
 A total of 542 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents during the 78-period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. This surpassed the previous record Memorial Day death toll of 525 in 1963, which was a four-day weekend.

Pyle said the extra money could be used for "better management of the traffic flow and the principal elements in the system."

Specifically, he added, the money would go for such things as more traffic police, traffic engineers, improved traffic control systems, driver education, driver licensing and motor vehicle inspections.

Pyle said the $800 million a year now spent for these programs is "woefully inadequate" in view of the increased traffic flow the past few years.

"This transportation thing has just exploded in the last 10 years, particularly the last five," he said.

Pyle said that in the last two or three years the number of motor vehicles on the road has increased by nine or 10 million annually.

Higher Rate
 Last year, a record 49,000 persons died on the highways. The National Safety Council said the total for the first three months of this year is seven per cent higher than the same period in 1965.

LOCAL HEAD START PROGRAM RECEIVES ADDITIONAL GRANT

Morgan county's Head Start program received $820 in federal funds Tuesday to supplement an additional grant of $9,000, the Washington Office of Economic Opportunity announced.

Ivan Garrison, director of special education in District 117, said that the supplement would bring the total grant up to the original request.

Garrison said that the local organization had originally asked for $9,820, but a mistake was made in the Washington office.

He said that after a letter of inquiry, the mistake was corrected, but that an additional request for the remaining amount had to be made to the Washington office of OEO.

The Morgan county Head Start program will provide for five centers to be located at North Jacksonville school, Jefferson elementary school, Franklin elementary school, Washington, and Murrayville.

The program is scheduled to include 75 children preparing them for kindergarten.

Education Group Urges Federal Aid For Tots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The extension of universal public education to all four- and five-year-olds, with broad federal support, was advocated Tuesday by a leading education commission.

"If such education were universalized, most children would reach six years of age with a level of development strikingly different from that which they bring to school today," said the Educational Policies Commission.

"Most of them would probably resemble in general development and learning ability the children who come to school today from the most-favored homes. These are not necessarily the wealthiest homes. Rather they are those in which parents take the most responsible, rational and appropriate roles in the rearing of their children," it said.

The commission is sponsored by the American Association of School Administrators and by the National Education Association.

Although it said it was speaking for itself, the commission's prestige is such that its pronouncements carry considerable weight in the education community. NEA, its cosponsor and the largest education group in the country, is expected to consider a resolution at its annual meeting in June embodying the policy commission's proposal.

The report estimated there are 8.4 million four- and five-year-olds in the country, of whom five million are not in any kind of school.

The report gave no cost estimate, but its secretary, James E. Russell, told a news conference the thinking is on the order of $500 per child per year. This would come to $2.5 billion a year.

The commission urged general federal support, but said all levels of government should contribute and that the early schooling should be an integral part of the present public school system, rather than a separate entity.

Almost all federal aid to education at present is categorical aid — aimed at specific areas such as disadvantaged children.

A number of education groups, including the National School Boards Association, favor a switch to general federal aid applying to all children.

Johnson Rites Conducted Here

Funeral services for C. A. Johnson were conducted at the Congregational church at 3 p.m. Tuesday. Reverend Lando Eitzen officiated and Mrs. Arthur Hecker served as organist.

Robert E. Spink and Donald Robinson were ushers at the church.

Pallbearers were Wayne Wood, Gilbert Todd, James Dwyer, Roland Trotter, James C. Coultas, F. Osborne Elliott, Gaston Wayne Foote and John F. Kaufmann.

Burial was in Diamond Grove cemetery. The Williamson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Three Negroes Victorious In Alabama Runoff

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A Negro who quit his job as a postal employee to run for Macomb County sheriff won the Democratic nomination for that post office Tuesday — a milestone in Alabama history.

Two other Negroes were nominated for tax collector and the county governing board in Macomb County. Another Negro was nominated for a school board seat in Greene County.

But a Negro candidate was defeated in the sheriff's race in Hale County, adjoining Greene in Alabama's black belt, even though Negroes there have a voting majority as they do in Macomb.

Elsewhere in the 26 white vs. Negro races which dominated Tuesday's statewide Democratic party runoff primary, one Negro ran ahead of his white opponents and 18 trailed.

No returns had been reported in the other two contests where candidates of different races competed against each other.

With all but four small rural boxes counted, Lucius D. Amerson, 32, defeated Sheriff Harvey Sadler despite a split in Negro ranks which had given the white incumbent the open endorsement of at least one Negro leader.

Amerson quit his job in the post office at Montgomery in February to devote full time to the race for sheriff — chief law enforcement officer in the county. He is married and the father of two children.

A Negro funeral home operator, L.A. Locklair, won the nomination for collector in Macomb County, defeating Arthur L. Cooper. And Harold W. Webb, another Negro, beat incumbent Johnny Henderson for a seat on the county board of revenue. Another Negro leader, the Rev. Peter Kirksey, won the party nomination for a place on the Greene County School Board. He defeated Seyborne Colson.

Twenty-six Negro candidates ran against an equal number of white opponents for seats in the all-white legislature and for sheriff and other county offices in 16 counties.

Most of them are in the southern portion of Alabama known as the black belt because of its dark, fertile soil. It was in those counties where the voting rights struggle of 1965 was centered.

Three statewide offices — state treasurer, state auditor and agriculture commissioner — also were at stake. In those races as in the county contests decided Tuesday, no one received a majority of the votes in the first primary, May 3, when Mrs. George C. Wallace was nominated for governor.

Seven Negroes, including civil rights attorney Fred Gray of Tuskegee, sought nomination for the Alabama House and one for the Senate. In the local races, four ran for sheriff, two for tax assessor, three for county collector, two for county school boards and seven for county governing bodies.

Neville counted heavily on an intensive white voter registration campaign in his county aimed at offsetting the Negro voting majority in the other two counties in the district, Macon and Bullock.

The second law passed by the first Congress in 1789 set a 5-to-15 per cent tariff on more than 80 imports.
